What is included in the rent?

On the website, you see the "basic" rent.
The rent includes:

- Wall and floor finishes (excluding social rental apartments)

Additional costs charged by Stienstra are:

- (Advance) service costs for the home, ranging from €135 to €150 per month per home, including heating costs. This depends on the rented home.
- Administration fee, which is a one-time charge of €125 excluding VAT.
- Security deposit, which is at least one month's rent. In special cases, a higher security deposit may be required.

Please also consider the following costs that you will need to pay yourself:

- Electricity usage
- Water usage and water board taxes
- Internet/phone/TV connection
- Municipal taxes (waste collection fees)

The first rent payment is made manually. For subsequent rent payments, we will use your direct debit authorization.

Why is a security deposit required?

When signing the lease agreement, we require a security deposit. The deposit amounts to at least one month's rent. In special cases, a higher deposit may be requested. After you have given notice to terminate your lease, we will schedule an appointment with you for a pre-inspection and final inspection. At this appointment, we will agree on the condition in which the apartment should be returned.

The security deposit will be refunded to you when you return the home to Stienstra in accordance with the agreement and without any rent arrears. The deposit protects the landlord against potential shortages or damages upon leaving the property.

Are administration fees charged?

Each new tenant pays a one-time administration fee of €125 for the signing of the lease agreement.

Screening and Income

What are the income requirements for renting a home?

To qualify for these homes, you need a gross (combined) monthly income of 4 times the (basic) monthly rent of the home, with any second income counted at 50%. This is at the discretion of Stienstra and depends on the type of home and the rental price.

Any financial obligations (such as alimony, personal loans, etc.) are deducted from the income.

Additional income from overtime may also be considered if it is a regular part of your annual income.

If you are employed

When applying, an original employer's statement is required. This statement must be recent, stamped with the company seal, and signed by the employer. Along with the employer's statement, we also ask for three recent payslips (if paid weekly, the last ten payslips). If you do not have an employer (such as retirees), we request a recent income statement.

If you are self-employed

Self-employed individuals must provide a complete balance sheet (comprehensive profit and loss statement) prepared by an accountant or accounting firm for the past two years. A bank guarantee or additional deposit is also required.

If your monthly income is insufficient and you wish to have your assets included in the assessment, we ask that you submit documentation of this.

If you are retired

If you do not have an employer because you are retired, we ask for a recent income statement. Different income requirements apply to retirees; each case is assessed individually.

In the application process, we also consider personal assets, provided these exceed €75,000.

Contract

How can I register?

You can register via the website.

What is the minimum rental period?

Anyone who rents a home from Stienstra signs a lease for a minimum of 3 years. And there's a reason for that. A 3-year period provides stability within a complex. It ensures serious tenants who want to live comfortably and maintain pleasant, long-term relationships with other residents, without constantly being confronted with moves, such as employees temporarily relocated (for 1 year) by companies. That's why a 3-year rental period is required. After these three years, a one-month notice period applies. You can cancel the lease on the 1st or the 15th of the following month.

Who is allowed to live in the property?

The signatories of the lease must reside in the property. After moving into Zuiderhof, all residents (including the signatories of the lease) must register at the rented address with the Municipal Personal Records Database (GBA).

Can I rent with a guarantor?

No, unfortunately, it is not possible to rent with a guarantor. You and your potential partner must meet our income requirements on your own.

I am a student, can I rent?

It is only possible to rent if you have sufficient income. We consider a maximum of two incomes (partners) as a combined income. No more than two tenants may be registered at the same address. We do not consider student grants as income, and we do not accept guarantors.

Can I share a home?

It is not allowed to share a home with someone with whom you do not have a demonstrable permanent household.

Reservation Agreement

Since we do not yet know the exact delivery date for the homes, you will receive a reservation agreement after your registration is approved. A reservation agreement guarantees you the rental of a home of your choice. By signing it, you commit to signing the lease when the homes are ready for delivery. To secure this, you will need to pay one month's rent, which will be converted into a deposit upon delivery.

How does the allocation process work?
